Crocheted Light Green Sweater

The light-up jumper is a nice warm and fluffy jumper, made with Infinity Hearts Lily.

The jumper is crocheted in one piece lengthwise and then sewn together at the end. You mainly crochet in the back loop only. It's an easy crochet pattern to follow and includes pictures to help guide you.

When you finish the row of sl st, you make a ch before you turn the work - this is the collar of the jumper. When you finish the row with dc, you turn before making a ch - this is the bottom of the jumper. The reason I do it in different ways is that the rows look nicer with these finishes.

A good tip for not having to count the stitches all the time is to place a stitch marker where the new crochet technique starts e.g. when htr begins.

If you have any questions about the pattern or need help with crocheting your jumper, feel free to dm me on Instagram @lisettelannerhag, and I will be happy to help you.

If there is only one number in the description, then the number of stitches is the same for all sizes. Otherwise, just follow the number of stitches for your size. Tip: Mark the size you are making with a highlighter to create a better overview of the pattern.

Back piece

Make sure to leave a long tail of yarn that you can use for sewing when you begin assembling the different parts of the jumper, once you have finished the back piece.

1: 10 sl st blo, 16 dc blo, 14(14)14(18)20(20) htr blo, 1 htr - be sure to work through both stitch loops here, as it makes it more stable for making ch for the back piece later. Ch 1(41)41(50)53(53), turn.

2: 1 st from the hook, 5 dc, 29(29)29(36)39(39) tr, 5(5)5(9)11(11) htr, 16(16)16(12)10(10) htr blo, 16 dc blo, 10 sl st blo, 1 ch, turn.

3: 10 sl st blo, 16 dc blo, 21(21)21(29)29(29) htr blo, 29(29)29(36)39(39) st blo, 5 dc blo, turn.

4: 1 ch, 5 dc blo, 29(29)29(36)39(39) st blo, 21(29) htr blo, 16 dc blo, 10 sl st blo, 1lm, turn. *

You now switch between row 3-4 until you have:

XS:40 S:43 M:47 L:51 XL:55 XXL:61

Rows in total.

The rows should ALWAYS end up in sl st (the collar). You are now done with the back piece, and you now start to sew all the parts together

Sewing the pieces together:

Now you sew the jumper together. You choose which side you want to use as the right side - this is just a matter of preference. Sew the jumper together on the 'wrong side' and turn out the right side afterwards. I crocheted mine together with sl st, but if you prefer to sew, that's just fine.

Sew 10 sl sts together, 16 dc, 15 (15) 15 (19) 20 (20) htr, then continue to sew the front piece to the back piece. Weave in the yarn end. Attach the yarn at the start of the sleeve and sew the sleeve together until it meets the front and back piece. Weave in the ends.

The picture shows where you should start sewing the jumper together and where I have marked how far we have to sew the sleeve (htr) before we sew the front and back piece together.

Attach yarn to the bottom of the jumper and sew the front and back piece together until you reach the sleeve. There you sew the sleeve together all the way to the bottom and weave in the end. Turn the jumper right side out. Now you crochet a round of dc around the collar. The picture below shows which stitches you should use to create a nicer finish on the neck. The number of dc is different, depending on what size you are making.
